WHY PLAN TRAVEL NOW?

BREAKING IT DOWN

Travelers are waiting to hit the skies to full fill their travel dreams. That's why you got this guide.

I am a firm believer in coming up with a multi year plan, even before 2020. You may have a list of places to go, but some locations have a very specific season. We'll use Alaska for an example. Summer season runs from May-September. Let's say summer is your busy season at work, aka no vacation time, I would suggest doing Alaska for your retirement celebration trip.

Small group tours may sell out more quickly than a traditional size one. A lot of suppliers allow a goodwill deposit to hold your spot before pricing is available. This is why some tours show sold out as soon as they pricing for that given year is made available to the public.

My 18 trips you should be booking now has ideas for any traveler from the new to international travel to my world travelers who are ready for those unique experiences.

The 18 Trips to Plan Now

East Africa Safari

The Classic safari country of Kenya & Tanzania has inspired the likes of Theodore Roosevelt & Ernest Hemingway. Home to the Great Migration and Africa's Big 5. This is a trip to plan sooner than later to experience the Masai Mara & Serengetti before the crowds return. Best time to go Jan-Feb, June-October.

Australia

The land down under is full of delight. Wildlife, landscapes, legends and perhaps surprising for some a vibrant food & wine culture too. It has something for everyone, including rail fans looking to cross The Ghan and the Indian-Pacific. Like Africa you can do multiple trips and never repeat experiences. Best time to visit Jan-April, September-December.

Machu Picchu

Since 1911 when the lost city of the Incas was rediscovered it has captured travelers' imagination. Was it a religious site or a city? For active clients there are a variety of hikes to do, but you also can take the train. Best time to visit April-October. And like a fine wine it pares wonderfully with our next option.

Galapagos Islands

Nature is at its prime on the islands, where animals roam freely and interact with humans with zero fear. You can get up close and personal with giant tortoises, sea lions and blue footed boobies. It's a year round destination and one of my top choices for multi generation travel.

South East Asia

From hushed footsteps of monks in a temple to the hustle of the streets of Bangkok, South East Asia deserves to be explored. See how Cambodia and Vietnam have weathered their pasts to become vibrant countries in the 21st century. From the rolling hills of Chang Rai to the luxurious beaches of Bali, South East Asia has it all.

Egypt

The jewel of the Nile is one of the few places that inspire us with ancient sites like the pyramids, temples dedicated to Pharaohs and the Nile itself, one of the world's great rivers. Best time to visit January-April and Sept-Dec.

Antarctica

The 7th continent is reached by sailing on an expedition ship. Some are as luxurious as a 5* hotel and all sail with less than 200 passengers to the white continent. The resident expedition team will plot your landings that offer the best opportunities to see the iconic wildlife of Antarctica.

Transatlantic Crossing on Queen Mary 2

The Queen Mary 2 is the world's only true ocean liner and a crossing on Cunard's flagship is a "must-do" for any world traveler. A unique experience with Cunard's glamorous history, travelers can do as little or as much as they want. The Queen Mary 2 has a regular schedule of sailings from New York and Southampton.

Tahiti

No travel list is complete without the islands of Tahiti, Bora Bora & Morea and over the water bungalows. This is not the place for hopping nightlife, but to enjoy outdoor activities and marvel at the beauty of the location. Other than the Maldives this is our top pick for over the water bungalows.

Greek Islands

No where offers a mix of sunshine, cuisine, history and archeology. Santorini & Mykonos are well known, but go off the beaten path to Patmos, Syros, Delos, Crete and Rhodes. It's all about island hopping either by ferry or small ship cruising.

Alaska

No passport needed to explore our unspoiled state to the North. Varied landscapes, wildlife watching and a fisherman's dream. Doing a 7 day cruise will only give you a small picture of our largest state, so plan on heading inland to see more. Northern light season runs from August-April.

River Cruise

One of the most enjoyable ways to explore Europe, is river cruising. Small ships with maximum of 190 guests., unpack once and relax with included tours plus free time to explore on your own. The Rhine and Danube rivers are the most popular sailings.

Private Yacht Charter

Set sail with your group of friends or family on a customized itinerary just for you. Greek Islands, British Virgin Islands are just a few destinations.

Get seasick, how about a private villa rental complete with a chef for a week.

Iceland

The most visually stunning countries in the world. Where you can exploring lava tube caves... freshwater diving between tectonic plates... snowmobile tour across an ancient glacier... relaxing in a natural hot spring... swimming in the warm aquamarine waters of the Blue Lagoon... taking in the breathtaking Northern Lights. There's only one place on earth where you can do all of this in one unforgettable vacation!

World Cruise

Tired of doing the Florida snowbird trip? Why not see the world during those 3+ months. World Cruises have always been popular, but now? 2 lines sold out their 2023 in the first 24 hours of opening them for sale. Too long, you can book segments of a world cruise also or a "Grand Voyage" which covers a region of the world.
